

He talked to their environmental scientists, and they saw the correct science and what we need to do. India stopped deforestation of their rain-forest September 2018. They are planting trees. China is increasing its forests by eight billion trees per year. Pakistan planted five billion trees by now and plans four billion trees more prior to 2024. France is planting trees. They have more trees now than in the 15th century. Nations in Africa are planting a wall of trees, which is pushing back the Sahara Desert and consuming more carbon dioxide and producing rain.
